AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

The Failure of the Peace Congress—Louis Napoleon Nonplussed—The Mexican Monarchy—The Venality of the French Press.

PARIS, Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1863.

The monarchs of Europe mock at the Emperor's calamity. They have driven him into a corner and they intend to hold him there. The alliance with England is broken, and it is doubtful whether another can be effected with Russia. The French journals cry "War!" but there will be no war, and nobody is deceived by the cry. For twelve years the Emperor has tricked and insulted England, till at last Lord JOHN RUSSELL gathers up his courage and says: "No, we will have nothing more to do with you, and you may do what you will about it; we assume the responsibility!" The other monarchs of Europe are delighted at this attitude of England, for they, too, have no confidence in NAPOLEON'S honesty; they, too, are glad of an occasion to isolate him, and to show him that they have no confidence in his professions.

For the moment the French Government is practicing what in medicine is called the system of expectation, but what the French journals call the terrible silence which precedes the storm. The Emperor, in fact, does not know what next to do, and he is waiting to see what is going to turn up. In the meantime, the Moniteur is publishing the replies of the different sovereigns to the invitations to the Congress, and this serves to keep up the excitement on the subject, but does not satisfy any one as to what the future is going to bring forth.

The Government does not seem to feel satisfied with the condition of interior affairs, and the warnings to the press and other rigorous measures, denote a disposition on the part of those charged with the maintenance of public order not to relax too much in their surveillance over the movements of the disaffected and the factious.

The journals are permitted, however to say that the condition of things in Mexico is almost hopeless; that to suppress the Juarez party and to bring the country to an acceptation of the intervention will still cost many men and much money.

On the other hand, I happen to know that at the Ministry of War and at the Ministry of Marine, they talk in quite another tone. There they say that JUAREZ will be destroyed in the campaign just opened, and that at the end of February, order—French order—will reign throughout Mexico.

It is generally admitted that France will be obliged, in order to escape from the Mexican dilemma, to guarantee a loan and a standing army, and that under these conditions MAXIMILIAN may probably be induced to undertake the doubtful enterprise for which he has been selected. The United States will then be the only stumbling block in the way, but the Government paper, La France, has undertaken to keep its readers advised on the intentions of our Government in this matter. The occupation of Brownsville by Gen. BANKS, was greeted by La France, with the declaration that the French people had no need to be alarmed about this circumstance, for that Mr. LINCOLN knew too well his own interests to think of interfering with French rights in Mexico. Subsequently the same paper declared that the Government of Mr. LINCOLN had shown such a fairness toward the French in Mexico, that there was no danger of any attempt of Gen. BANKS to interfere in any way with the French programme in that country. These declarations of La France are no doubt made on its own responsibility, and are in no other way valuable than as an indication of the current of people's thoughts in this country.

Two or three of the French papers have published that precious extract from the intercepted correspondence of Mr. DE LEON, in which the writer gives his appreciation of the French journalists in his employ, and an exposition of his financial embarrassments in the same connection. The letter of Mr. DE LEON would no doubt have acquired a wider circulation if it were not for the fact that a large proportion of the press of Paris is venal to the last degree, and that the subject is therefore a disagreeable one. The singular spectacle is presented at this moment of Ministerial journals taking opposite sides on the question of the Suez Canal, and for reasons which the public find no difficulty in explaining. This subsidizing of the press, however, by the Confederates, has done harm to the Union cause in France, and ought to have been met by the same kind of counteracting influence. It is a source of gratification, however, that all the liberal pens of France, and most of the pens of renown, have been devoted to the Union cause, and without pay or stimulus, or suggestion, even, of any kind.

The work on the Confederate ships at Bordeaux continues, but under a guarantee that the vessels are to be diverted from their original destination.

Two late numbers of the New-York Semi-Weekly TIMES have been suppressed at the French Post-office, but for what cause I have been unable to ascertain. A large number of foreign papers are having the same experience.

THE GREAT FIGHT.

The great fight between JOHN C. HEENAN and TOM KING, for $10,000, came off at Tunbridge on the 10th inst. The contest resulted in favor of KING, after twenty-five well contested rounds, fought in thirty-five minutes.

The following from Bell's Life is a detailed account of the affair:

From Bell's Life in London.

The long-talked of battle of "the giants" came off Thursday last, at a capital spot southeastward, under as brilliant circumstances, both as regards weather and traveling arrangements, as could possibly be desired. The sun shone beautifully the whole day, the company was exceedingly select, and there was not the slightest appearance of interruption from the moment of landing to that of departure. Gentle and simple, and noble and plain, were present in large numbers—over 1,000. The appearance of that great audience on one of the Sussex hills as exponents and supporters of thorough English manly pluck and bottom all over the world, brought back, as if upon the stage of history, the traditional glories of the sunlit days of the ring, glories which, we trust, have not altogether departed, but which, judging from the well-fought contest and well-conducted business of Thursday, may again shine upon this yearning generation of ours. On arrival at the station a few minutes before five in the morning, we found the "rasping" division had dwindled away into an insignificant few. Fact is, busy tongue of Madam Rumor had sent them so often to various stations on the Will-o'-the-Wisp errand that they were completely tired out, and after the lesson of Tuesday and Wednesday night without anything turning up they blew up the whole affair and quietly stayed at home. Never was a secret of such a kind better kept, and the wide-awakes who "knew the exact spot to a yard," found themselves neck deep in the mire after a fashion they little calculated on. The train consisted of thirty carriages, in each of which, to use a theatrical phrase, there was no standing-room. We were "horsed" by two powerful engines, and about a quarter past six, glided out of the station, without least confusion, and with greatest regularity in the world.

After a pleasant trip, we at length drew up in a secluded and well-selected spot, where we got out, yawned, stretched ourselves, and gulped in the sharp morning air most voraciously. On account of the extreme softness of the ground, it was some time before a decent place could be found. At this hour, about 9¼ o'clock, the sun shining out as magnificently as on a fine May morning, and as we toiled some mile and a half up a steep craggy hill the "stuff" was taken out of many. At length a chosen spot was taken possession of, and the ring pitched. KING first tossed in his caster, amid loud cheers, immediately followed by HEENAN, who was similarly received. Colors were now unfolded on both sides, and the combatants began to dress. Choice of ground won by HEENAN, and then came, the referee; some wrangling took place in respect to that functionary, during which, betting went on with offers of 40 to 20, etc., on HEENAN, without takers. Confusion now became ruling element, wasting away precious time on the top of a hill that could be seen for twenty miles around. There were the men and seconds ready, while the referee was expected to come from the clouds. Three-quarters of an hour were spent in this way before matters were finally closed, and the referee originally proposed was ultimately agreed to. The men then began the important duty of the toilet, and, in the hands of their respective valets, the operation was soon completed. The ring was then cleared, and the men showed themselves ready for battle array. HEENAN was the first to exhibit, amidst the loud cheers of his admirers, instantly followed by KING, for whom another salvo arose from the throats of his party. Exactly at 10 o'clock the men were delivered at the scratch, shook hands, and prepared to commence

THE FIGHT.

ROUND 1.—Both trying to measure their distance. Heenan ran in and closed, grasping King by the neck, and put on the old-fashioned hug, continuing to hold his man in such a way that the referee entered the ring and strictly cautioned him not to repeat the operation in a similar manner.

ROUND 2.—King made fighting soon as he came to the scratch. There was some attempt at countering by both of the most homely description, very wild and very plain. Heenan rushed on King, got the hug again, and threw him like a sack of malt on the grass. On the men being lifted, Heenan was found to be bleeding from the mouth. First blood was claimed and allowed to King. [Cheers.]

ROUND 3.—After some hard exchanges, Heenan again put on the hug, and threw King on the ropes with an awful spank. All was now going dead against King, but the first blood.

ROUND 4.—King came up with a "mouse" rather visible under his left eye. They went to work in a manner that showed the first indication of slashing, Heenan again running in for the hug. It was obvious that he meant to fight nothing but a wrestling fight—fists to be only very subordinate agents in the business. This called forth loud expressions of disapprobation.

ROUND 5.—Both men came up smiling at one another, and, after feeling, King let fly a tremendous right-handed thunderbolt against Heenan's ear that was heard all over the ring. King followed up his advantage, and launched a fellow-blow on Heenan's temple. Heenan, in despair, hugged again, and threw his antagonist.

ROUND 6.—The sledging business commenced at this round—both men went in ding-dong. Heenan finished by again putting on the hug; what few hits were exchanged were not of the slightest moment upon the issue of the contest.

ROUND 7.—Give and take now became the order of the day. A few seconds, then more hammering, when Heenan was obliged to fly to his favorite embrace. Caught King and cross-buttocked him fearfully. People actually held their breath a moment, and felt relieved when the men were carried to their corners. During this round, King gave Heenan a rattling sledge-hammer on the nose with his right, and brought the blood down in a stream. [Cheers and counter cheers.]

ROUND 8.—On time being called both were up, recovering, or backing, or ducking, to get away. Some rapid countering took place. Heenan went in, when the hugging was brought into action, but this time falling woefully, for King turned the table and floored his antagonist.

ROUND 9.—Both sharp to time. King let out his right, and struck Heenan tremendously about the head. Heenan closed, and threw King again.

ROUND 10.—Express speed had now begun in earnest, King landing out heavily with both fists, and, at a struggle, was thrown.

ROUND 11.—Heenan began to show the pace was telling on him. Coming up, he caught and threw King very heavily. It sounded like oxen falling out of a cart.

ROUND 12.—Not more than a minute; heavy exchanged about the head, and Heenan threw King heavily.

ROUND 13.—Some heavy encountering about the head on both sides, when Heenan closed, throwing King as before.

ROUND. 14.—Heenan met King at the very onset with a fearful punch from the latter's right hand. Some sharp betting. A heavy fall for King. Notwi hstanding all this throwing advantage, Heenan showed nearly as much distress as King.

ROUND 15.—It was now plainly seen that the rate was telling powerfully on both men. Some swing taps on each side. Heenan shot out his right hand with such terrific effect that King reeled like a drunken man, ultimately falling in his corner. It was thought that he would not face the storm again. That was the first genuine knock-down blow.

ROUND 16.—Heenan began to show that fortune was gliding fast from him. He came up with a dreadful eye. This round was a severe struggle.

ROUND 17.—The excitement became so tremendous that all regulation about the inner ring was swept to the winds. King's cyclopean blows about Heenan's head, especially the temples, so swelled up the parts that he began to look in a sad plight. His eye was in a frightful state, King having made several sudden successful shoulder-hits with his right on it.

The following account is from the London Illustrated Sporting News, and is additional to that received from Bell's Life:

ROUND 16.—A tolerable good amount of work done, in which King cut his opponent's right eye, and the round was finished by a heavy body blow from Heenan, which made the sailor stagger back, and the ground being slippery, he fell down.

ROUND 17.—Heenan's fast fighting and throwing now began to tell its own, tale upon himself, and he came up piping, though smiling. Nobbers were exchanged and some body blows, and in the end King was again thrown.

ROUND 18.—King now led off and visited the damaged eye, and also got on the cheek, which riled the Benecia Boy, who gave him a stinger on the head, closed and threw him so heavily it was thought he was out of time, and it took his seconds some time before they could get him round again.

[Here the Kingites broke into the ring, and the remainder of the fight was carried on amidst much disorder. In the confusion we missed the two succeeding rounds, but they were very short and in favor of Heenan. King soon recovered, and immediately afterward turned the tide of fortune in his favor, Heenan rapidly and suddenly getting weak.]

ROUND 21—By the advice of his seconds, King led off, and planted well on the damaged eye, also on the nose, fetching more blood from both places. Heenan's returns were short, and King at once closed with him and threw him—a regular burster.

ROUND 22—Again did King get well home on the nasal organ and right peeper, and receiving it in the ribs, closed and threw Heenan.

ROUND 23—Heenan came up quite groggy, and his heart seemed to be failing him, for when King once more planted a straight one on the mouth, he appeared quite perplexed and helpless. He tried to plant his left, but did not reach. After some sharp in-fighting, he was again flung heavily to Mother Earth, and when picked up was nearly senseless.

ROUND 24—No sooner were they at the scratch, than King again visited the mug, and knocked the Boy clear off his pins.

25TH AND LAST ROUND.—Sayers souced Heenan well with cold water, and got him once more to face King, but the latter again planted on the mouth, and flung him almost senseless to the ground. This was a settler, for when Heenan tried to leave his corner for another round, he was as helpless as a child, and amidst shouts of "shame!" "shame!" to allow him to come up again, Macdonald gave in for him.

The "Boy" was seconded by TOM SAYERS and JOHNNY MACDONALD, and KING by JERRY NOON and BAS TYLER.

Rumors had been current that HEENAN was in an alarming condition in consequence of the punishment he received in his recent fight with KING, but they proved to be unfounded.

On the arrival of HEENAN in London he received the best medical assistance, and although his bruises and contusions were found to be very severe, none of his bones were broken and he had received no internal injury. His head exhibited a most ghastly appearance; his old lip-wound had reopened and his eyes were nearly closed.

The bets on the result of the fight surpassed in their number and amount any ever made on any like occasion.

The fight has been the all-engrossing topic in England. The papers give elaborate accounts of it, and KING'S victory was naturally received with great exultation.

There was no interruption of the fight and it was bravely, fairly and squarely fought.

The London Times devotes a leader to the affair and also publishes a graphic special account. It editorially says:

"HEENAN was game throughout, from the beginning to the close of the fight, and he put the 'hug' on so as to crush his antagonist by dashing him to the ground. KING'S tactics were different and more creditable to a professor of pugilism. They consisted simply in striking a series of sledge-hammer blows on the most prominent and sensitive parts of HEENAN'S physiognomy until the latter collapsed from exhaustion.

The affair was over in twenty-four rounds and thirty-five minutes. There appears to have been little 'science' on either side, but it was, nevertheless, a fair stand-up fight, without a check, and ended in a decisive victory for KING."

The Times concludes its article by asserting that "prize-fighting is more revolting than bull-fighting, and ought to be discouraged."

THE CONGRESS.

It was reported that negotiations were going on between France and various European Powers, to determine if the Congress shall go on without England.

The reply of Austria is published. It fully sympathizes with the objects NAPOLEON has in view, but wishes before taking part to learn with some accuracy the basis and programme of the Congress. The reply points out that there would be less danger of accident if the questions for discussion be indicated beforehand. In an accompanying letter Count REICHBERG asks how NAPOLEON'S declaration relative to the Treaties of 1815 is to be understood.

THE HOLSTEIN QUESTION.

It was reported that the President of the German Federal Diet had notified the Danish Government that if in three days Denmark does not comply with the demands of the Diet the Federal troops will enter Holstein.

In the Prussian Chamber of Deputies a bill had been introduced for a loan of twelve millions of thalers to meet the expenses of the extraordinary military measures caused by affairs in Schleswig-Holstein. The Minister on Finance requested a speedy decision.

It was rumored that King CHRISTIAN, of Denmark, was indisposed, and some uneasiness was felt on his account.

The Dresden and Wurtemberg Chambers have adopted resolutions urging the immediate occupation of Holstein, and against the Danish pretensions.

Prince FREDERICK, of Augustenburg, has issued a proclamation to the Holsteiners, thanking them for their fidelity and reasserting his rights.

Troops had left Prague for Theresienstadt, where the troops are to assemble preparatory to their departure for Holstein, to enforce the Federal execution.

The whole Austrian corps were to move on the 15th of December.

It is said that the Austrian Government will ask of the Reichsrath an extraordinary credit of fifteen millions of florins to meet the expenses of the Holstein expedition, and the establishment of troops in Gallicia.

The Saxon contingent will enter Holstein on the 15th of December, and, if resisted, the Austro-Prussian Reserves, 52,000 strong, will quickly move to the front.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. COBDEN was engaged in a warm controversy with the London Times, that journal having refused to publish a letter from him.

Justice WIGHTMAN, a distinguished English Judge, had died suddenly, aged 80 years.

FRANCE.

It is reported that the French Government is preparing a squadron for the Pacific, with the views of stopping the supply of arms from California for JUAREZ.

The monthly returns of the Bank of France show an increase in cash on hand of nearly eight millions of francs.

Marshal FOREY had reached St. Nazaire in the frigate Panama.

It was reported that the new loan would be laid before the Legislature on the 14th instant.

There was not much variation on the Paris Bourse and the Rentes closed on the 11th instant at 67f. 20c.

The debate on the address was fixed for the 14th inst.

The Moniteur says that the Government will take no part in the discussion on the Suez Canal works.

The Paris Bourse was firmer, the Rentes closing on the 9th inst. at 67f. 40c.

ITALY.

An exciting debate in the Italian Parliament, on the question of the policy of the Government in Sicily, resulted in the approval of the Government, by a vote of 206 to 52.

Thirty-five members of the municipality of Naples had resigned.

POLAND.

The chief railway station at Warsaw has been surrounded by Russian troops.

Several engagements are reported in the Governments of Cracow and Lublin.

Fresh bands of insurgents were appearing in Lithuania, well equipped and supplied with Winter clothing.

Several important victories by the Poles over the Russian troops are confirmed.

Arrests at Warsaw continue to be as numerous as ever, and the system of depopulation progresses without abatement. Twenty railway officials have been arrested.

RUSSIA.

Russia is reported to be making great armaments at Kieff and Nicolaieff.

SWEDEN.

The Diet was closed on the 8th instant. The King, in his speech, said:

"Our interests are not yet immediately threatened; but they are connected in the maintenance of the peace and right of nations. The Swedish nation feels deep sympathy and sorrow for the dangers which impend over the King and people of Denmark.

Sweden has withdrawn from the alliance with Denmark, as she stands upon the observance of the Treaty of London.

JAPAN.

Advices via Paris say that at an extraordinary meeting of the Daimios, it was decided by a vote of 65 against 47, that there was no ground for declaring war against foreigners.

WEST COAST OF AFRICA.

The November mails had been received from various ports on the West Coast of Africa, but the news generally was unimportant.

The schooner City of Norwich shipped 1,200 slaves at Whydah on the 12th of October. She got safely away with them.

Small cotton shipments were being made to Liverpool.

INDIA.

Dates from Bombay are to the 29th of November.

Lord ELGIN died on the 20th of November.

There had been more hard fighting on the frontier.

The hill tribes had risen against British rule, and attacked the British troops under Gen. CHAMBERLAIN with great determination; but they were repulsed and had not resumed the attack.

Two English officers were killed and seven wounded, including Gen. CHAMBERLAIN and Col. HOPE.

One hundred and twenty-eight British and native troops were killed and wounded.

Gen. CHAMBERLAIN was in a strong fortified position, with 5,000 troops, well provided with everything. He telegraphs that he is confident of final success, and does not require reinforcements.

CHAMBERLAIN had resigned his command on account of his wounds.

Exchange at Bombay had advanced 2 per cent.

THE EDINBURGH'S NEWS.

The following is a summary of the steamer Edingburgh's news, which sailed from Liverpool on the 9th inst.

The news by the City of London, confirming GRANT'S victory over BRAGG, was received with great satisfaction by the friends of the North, while on the Southern sympathizers it exercised a depressing effect, and that barometer, the Confederate Loan, experienced another material decline, being quoted at 35 and 38, or about 55 discount, with very few buyers. A sale was reported as low as 35.

[The latest previous quotations left the loan at 56 o 57, making a decline of over 20 per cent.—ED.]

The ship Wilhelmsborg, from Hamburg for Australia, was wrecked on the 6th inst., and out of 300 emigrants on board, only 44 were saved.

Mr. WILLIAM CORNELL JEWETT, who was staying in Liverpool, was publishing letters in the journals of that town, appealing to the Pope of Rome, and to the Church universally, to mediate between the belligerents in America.

The Southern Association of Manchester had declined Mr. JEWETT'S offer to lecture before them on the American question, because of the stipulation made by Mr. JEWETT that he should not compromise himself by altogether espousing the cause of the South, but should be allowed to take a broad view of the subject as it affected humanity.

The reply of Russia in regard to the European Congress proposed by the Emperor NAPOLEON is published.

The reply expresses an ardent desire for the pacification of Europe by an understanding between the Sovereigns; but says it is indispensable that the Emperor of the French should define the questions upon which an understanding would have to be arrived at, and the basis upon which such understanding should be established.

The English journals look on the Danish-German question as more pacific; but the German Diet on the 7th instant passed a resolution in favor of the Federal execution in Holstein by a small majority, and reserved to itself the settlement of the question of succession. An order for troops to enter the Duchy was immediately dispatched.

In the French Senate the draft of an address in reply to the Emperor NAPOLEON had been read. It is a mere paraphrase of his speech.

BRILLIANT EXPLOITS OF GEN. AVERILL.

The Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad Destroyed.

Great Destruction of Rebel Stores.

EXTRAORDINARY LABORS OF THE TROOPS.

EDRAY, POCAHONTAS COUNTY, West Va., Dec. 21, Via BEVERLY, Dec. 22, 1863.

To Major-Gen. Halleck, General-in-Chief:

I have the honor to report that I cut the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad at Salem on the 16th inst., and have arrived safely at this point with my command, consisting of the Second, Third and Eighth Virginia mounted infantry, Fourteenth Pennsylvania, DODSON' battalion of cavalry, and EWING'S battery at Salem.

Three depots were destroyed, containing 2,000 bbls. of flour, 10,000 bushels of wheat, 100,000 bushels of shelled corn, 50,000 bushels of oats, 2,000 bar rels of meat, several cords of leather, 1,000 sacks of salt, 31 boxes clothing, 20 bales of cotton, a large amount of harness, shoes and saddles, equipments, tools, oil, tar, and various other stores, and 100 wagons.

The telegraph wire was cut, coiled and burned for half a mile.

The water station, turn-table and three cars were burned, and the track torn up and rails heated and destroyed as much as possible in six hours. Five bridges and several culverts were destroyed, over an extent of 15 miles.

A large quantity of bridge timber and repairing materials were also destroyed. My march was retarded occasionally by the tempest in the mountains and the icy roads.

I was obliged to swim my command, and drag my artillery with ropes across Crog's Creek seven times in twenty-four hours. On my return, I found six separate commands under Gens. Early, Jones, Fitz Lee, Imboden, Jackson, Echols, and McCoustin, arranged in a line extending from Staunton to Newport, upon all the available roads, to prevent my return. I captured a dispatch from Gen. JONES to Gen. EARLY, giving me the position, and that of JACKSON at Clifton Forge, and Covington was selected to carry.

I marched from the front of JONES to that of JACKSON at night. His outposts were pressed in at a gallop by the Eighth Virginia mounted infantry, and the two bridges across Jackson's River was saved, although faggots had been piled ready to ignite.

My column, about four miles long, hastened across, regardless of the enemy, until all but my ambulances, a few wagons and one regiment had passed, when a strong effort was made to retake the first bridge, in which they did not succeed.

The ambulance and some sick men were lost, and by the darkness and difficulties, the last regiment was detained upon the opposite side until morning, when it was ascertained that the enemy seemed determined to maintain his position up the cliffs which overlooked the bridges. I caused the bridges, which were long and high, to be destroyed, and the enemy immediately changed his position to the flank and rear of the detachment which was cut off. I sent orders to the remnants to destroy our wagons, and come to me across the river, or over the mountains.

They swam the river with the loss of only four men, who were drowned, and joined me. In the meantime forces of the enemy were concentrating upon me at Collaghan's over every available road but one, which was deemed impracticable, but by which I crossed over the top of the Alleghanies with my command, with the exception of four caissons, which were destroyed in order to increase the teams of the pieces. My loss is six men drowned, one officer and four men wounded, and four officers and ten men missing.

We captured about two hundred prisoners, but have retained but forty officers and eighty men, on account of their inability to walk. We took also about one hundred and fifty horses.

My horses have subsisted entirely upon a very poor country, and the officers and men have suffered cold, hunger and fatigue with remarkable fortitude. My command has marched, climbed, slid and swam three hundred and fifty-five miles since the 8th inst.

GEN. M'CLELLAN'S REPORT.

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of War, in compliance with Mr. Cox's resolution, transmitting the report of Gen. THE ENROLLMENT ACT.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the same Committee, also reported a bill to repeal part of the Enrollment Act, the sole object of the bill being to unite the two classes into one, to take effect from and after its passage.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) briefly stated his objections to the bill.

Mr. FERNANDO WOOD, of New-York, (Dem.,) said that the Enrollment Act was full of defects, and required such modifications as would fill up our failing armies. He hoped the pending bill would not be acted upon at this time, and moved its reference to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. SCHENCK, in reply, said that the Committee on Military Affairs would not report a repealing bill. They were, however, assiduously engaged in considering amendments to make the act more effective. There appeared to be an urgency for the passage of the pending bill.

Mr. ANCONA, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) offered a preamble, setting forth that the act commonly called the "Conscription Law," is oppressive, unjust and unconstitutional, because it takes from States the control of their own militia; therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to bring in a bill for the repeal of the act, and the substitution of some constitutional and just bill for immediately filling up our armies.

THE TAX ON PETROLEUM.

Mr. A. MYERS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) introduced a bill to reduce the excise tax on coal oil; to repeal so much of the present laws as permit the exportation of such oil free of duty, and to classify coal oil distillers. It was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 23—P. M.

The price of Gold is a fraction weaker to-day, on the better financial news from England. A further considerable advance in the rates of interest was looked for, and the fact that no advance whatever was made the week the Jura at Portland, and Asia at Halifax, sailed, in connection with the diminished drain of Gold from the Bank of England, has lessened the anxiety to buy Gold here for export. Only one steamer sails on Saturday. The business in Gold and Exchange for this opportunity must be closed by Thursday afternoon, in consequence of the holiday on Friday. The rate on London is 166 ℔ cent., on the basis of 152 ℔ cent. for Gold. The price of Money at call is 7 ℔ cent., at which there is a continued active, though not urgent, demand from the Stock Brokers. The rates on Merchant paper are 7 ℔ cent. for short dates, and 7½@8 ℔ cent. on fair single names, running 4@6 months. Some prime 4 months' signatures were done to-day at 7 ℔ cent. There is a good demand for the shorter dates at this figure.

The Banks and Treasury Office in this City hold to-day seventy-six millions in Gold and Legal Tender Currency, divided about as follows:

	In Banks.	Treasury.	Total.
Legal Tender.....	$24,000,000	$14,500,000	$38,500,000
Gold.....	25,250,000	12,250,000	37,500,000
Total			$76,000,000

The receipts at the Treasury Office for the popular Loan are $1,392,300, rather less than on Monday or Tuesday.

The Stock Market is firmer on the Railways than the general run of sales yesterday. The speculation is not very spirited. A good many parties, who rather look for higher prices after New-Year, are indisposed to anticipate the turn by present purchases. On the other hand, speculative sellers are moving upon the demand for Money at 7 ℔ cent., and the calculation of chances for a tighter state of things in January. The Government Stocks are firm, and Treasury paper in good demand.

The following bids were made to-day for the City Bank Shares:

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Tuesday night. The prices for the Railways left off steady, on a moderate amount of business doing. The sudden rise in Mariposa Shares of 6 ℔ cent. yesterday was lost after the First Board to-day:

The City Bank Stocks are generally firm on the first of January Dividends. These show a profitable business for the half-year, mainly on the employment of Bank Capital and Deposits in Government Securities. The Park Bank declares 5 per cent. half-yearly, and 10 per cent. by way of extra Dividend. This Bank enjoys a very large line of Country Bank Accounts, and the policy of reorganizing under the National Bank system is discussed among some of the Stockholders. There is no question that such a measure would not only retain but add to the correspondence and profitable accounts of the concern in the North and West. The Mercantile Bank declares 5 per cent. by way of extra Dividend. The Market Bank 4 per cent., and the Tradesmen's 5 per cent.

KIRK'S CHARLES THE BOLD!
JUST PUBLISHED:
HISTORY OF CHARLES THE BOLD,
DUKE OF BURGUNDY.
By JOHN FOSTER KIRK.....Two vols., 8vo.

Muslin, uncut, on white paper.....$3 00 per vol.
Half morocco, with vellum cloth sides and gilt top, on tinted laid paper.....3 50 per vol.

The remarkable epoch treated by Mr. Kirk is full of grand historical figures, and by his narrative an entirely new light is thrown on some of the most important events in Charles' career. His position as the "Napoleon of the Middle Ages" is fully indicated, and the influence is traced both of his ambition and of his fall upon the destinies of the principal European States.

The Atlantic Monthly says:

"We have no hesitation in assigning to Mr. Kirk's most fascinating narrative a place with the great achievements of genius in the department he has chosen to fill. His advent among historians will be welcomed the world over."

From Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie:

"The author will take his stand at once among the great writers of his land and time."

FAITH GARTNEY'S GIRLHOOD. Fifth Edition. Price $1 50. "This noble book has had a great sale, and deserves the great popularity it has acquired, not only for its high moral tone, but for the interest of its story and the excellence of its literary workmanship. It is preeminently a book for girls. The author is one of the most accomplished of the female writers of America."
JEAN BELIN, or the Adventures of a little French Boy, sparkles with energy and life, and conquering difficulties, surmounting obstacles, like another "Robinson Crusoe," he establishes himself an inspiring hero in the hearts of his young readers. It is equal in interest to Defoe's immortal romance. In short we pronounce "Jean Belin" as the best Boys' Book of the season.
Thick 12mo volume; price $1 50.
A BUDGET OF FUN FOR LITTLE FOLKS tells of a famous Knitting Club of young Girls in Chesnut-street, to whom Grandmother told the most delicious fairy stories, and into these glowing fictions wove sweet little touches of generosity and goodness. Price 75c.
VERONICA, OR THE LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER, is one of the most delicious stories, charming and original—because a young girl passes through the trials and adventures usually monopolized by boys, a never losing her feminine sweetness, trimming her lighthouse lamp like another Grace Darling, and bringing the richest earthly joy to a desolate home from which she so mysteriously disappeared. Price 75c.
BOYS AT CHEQUASSET, OR A LITTLE LEAVEN, by the authoress of "Faith Gartney's Girlhood," is the best Boy's Book ever written. Price 75c.
THE SUNSET STORIES are delightful, and their local sale will be very large, owing to the interest in the gifted authoress.

THE DUSSELDORF GALLERY.
A NEW EDITION.

GEMS FROM THE DUSSELDORF GALLERY OF PAINTINGS, Photographed from the Originals by A. A. TURNER, and reproduced (for the first time) under the superintendence of B. FROSHAM, with letter-press descriptive of each work. 1 elegant vol., large 4to, with 52 fine photographs. Elegant, in morocco, $50.

The Dusseldorf Gallery of Paintings, soiling and favorably known in New-York, is, for the first time, reproduced by the aid of photography. This will enable many art-lovers to possess copies of original pictures, the great value of which would place the possession of them beyond their reach. It is needless to attempt to eulogize this collection, for it has now been for many years before the American public, who have had justly so, their national vanity flattered by the knowledge that this country possesses a gallery of modern German painters' works, such as is seldom seen in Germany itself, and this not a public but a private property.

NEW PRESENTATION BOOK FOR 1864.
THE WREATH OF BEAUTY. Edited by JOHN R. G. HASSARD. 1 vol. imperial 8vo, embellished with 16 steel Portraits, beautifully printed, and richly bound in best turkey morocco. $12 50.

In the preparation of this volume it has been the editor's endeavor to impart such a variety to its contents that no intelligent reader shall fail to find in it much that may interest him; and with this view, although a great part of the matter has been written expressly for its pages, he has not scrupled to select, from various foreign works, a number of tales which seemed to him worthy of being better known in this country than they thus far have been.

A NEW AMERICAN EPIC.
PELAYO: an Epic of the Olden Moorish Time. By a new Author. 1 vol. 12mo. Illustrated. Cloth, $2; cloth gilt, $3; morocco, $5.

This new volume of Poems pertaining to the chivalrous age of Spanish history, has been spoken of in flattering terms by several of our literary men. Among others, William C. Bryant says: "I have been charmed to perceive how skillfully the author has availed herself of the materials for poetic embellishment furnished by the history of that romantic period."

SNOW-FLAKE ALBUM.
CLOUD CRYSTALS: A SNOW-FLAKE ALBUM, collected and edited by a lady. 1 elegant volume, small 4to, in extra cloth, $3; cloth gilt, $5; morocco, $7 50.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

From Gen. AVERILL'S Department we have news of a most brilliant achievement by his command, in the destruction of the Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad at Salem, in the Blue Ridge Valley, about seventy miles west of Lynchburgh. Gen. AVERILL penetrated to this point on the 16th inst., and destroyed the bridges and culverts on the road for a distance of fifteen miles. At Salem, three large warehouses were destroyed, containing an immense amount of stores of all kinds, among which were 100,000 bushels of corn, 10,000 bushels of wheat, 2,000 barrels of flour, 2,000 barrels of meat, and many other articles, the loss of which, to the rebels, will be almost irreparable. Gen. AVERILL was opposed, on his return, by six different commands of the enemy, but he cut his way through, and returned with small loss.

The flag-of-truce boat at Fortress Monroe yesterday brought Richmond papers of the 23d. A summary of the news is telegraphed. Gen. JOE JOHNSTON had been assigned to the command of the army lately under BRAGG. The battle between Gen. LONGSTREET and Gen. SHACKELFORD at Bean's Station, Tenn., on Monday of last week, proves to have been quite an affair. The rebel loss is admitted to be 800 in killed and wounded, including a Brigadier-General. Our own, as has been already reported, did not exceed 200. The rebels claim to have captured seventy wagon-loads of stores and 225 prisoners. AVERILL was operating vigorously in Southwestern Virginia, and the rebel Generals seem to be employed chiefly in blockading the roads to prevent his advance. From Charleston the dates are to the 22d. Our batteries continued to shell Charleston at intervals, which provoked the ire of the enemy, but, as they say, did no damage. The Ironsides was reported at her usual anchorage inside the bar—so, of course, the late stories about her were mere fiction.

The United States steam transport Star of the South, Capt. WOODHULL, from Hilton Head, 21st inst., arrived last evening. We learn by this vessel that the reports of the United States frigate Ironsides and other monitors being entangled in the obstructions in Charleston Harbor are untrue. The monitor Lehigh, while on picket duty near Fort Johnson, got aground. The rebel battery opened on her, doing her considerable damage, when the other two iron-clads went to her assistance and succeeded in getting her off. The Lehigh was so badly damaged by the fire of the rebel batteries, that the Star of the South had to tow her to Hilton Head for repairs. No one on board was injured. Gen. GILLMORE was shelling Charlesleston daily from his 200-pounders. Nothing of further importance had happened.

An important general order, respecting reënlistments and furloughs to veterans, was issued from the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, yesterday. It provides that when three-fourths of a regiment (or company, if not attached to a regiment) who are present for duty, are ready to reenlist, they shall be allowed a furlough of thirty-five days, and may take their arms and equipments with them. The terms of the order are very generous, and will greatly promote reënlistments.

CONGRESS.

Both Houses were brief in their doings yesterday, in order to get to the adjournment, which carries them over the Holidays. In the Senate further petitions were received from clergymen, who assert that they have conscientous scruples against bearing arms. The Inspectors of Customs at Philadelphia want their pay increased. Mr. WILSON introduced a sensible bill, providing for a uniform style of ambulances in all the armies. Mr. WADE introduced a bill, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, prohibiting members of Congress from acting as counsel in cases where the United States is a party either directly or indirectly. Mr. TRUMBULL'S resolution asking for the names of unemployed General officers, was adopted.

In the House, the Speaker announced the Select Committee of nine on the National Bankrupt Act; Judge Spaulding, of Ohio, is Chairman; the balance are Judge Kelly of Philadelphia, Samuel Hooper of Massachusetts, Augustus Frank of New-York, Judge Thomas of Maryland, and Messrs. Morrison of Illinois, Jenkes of Rhode Island, Cravens of Indiana, and Chanler of New-York. The Committee are understood to be favorable to the project. The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of War, transmitting the report of Gen. MCCLELLAN. A resolution by Mr. COX, of Ohio, to print 10,000 copies was referred to the Committee on Printing. Mr. FENTON, from the Military Committee, reported a bill to facilitate the payment of dues of wounded and deceased soldiers. The Enrollment Act came up again, and Mr. SCHENCK reported a bill to repeal that part which divides the enrolled into two classes. The bill was being discussed, when the House, on motion of Mr. STEVENS, adjourned, which carries it over to the 5th of January.

FROM EUROPE.

The Asia at Halifax, the Jura at Portland and the Edinburgh at this port, bring us telegraphic news from Europe to the 13th inst., and our files and correspondence to the 10th. In the absence of important political news, the press of England was in a fever of excitement over the mauling match between HEENAN and KING, which was fought on the 10th instant, and resulted in favor of the Englishman. The contest continued thirty-five minutes, and twenty-five rounds were fought. HEENAN was shockingly disfigured by the heavy blows of his opponent. The suspected rebel steamer Pampero had been formally seized by the Customs authorities. The death of Lord ELGIN, on the 20th ult., is confirmed. The news of GRANT'S success at Chattanooga had caused a great turn in the Confederate Loan. The replies of Russia, Austria, and several minor Powers, to the Emperor's Peace Congress proposition are published, and it is reported that negotiations are going on to determine if the Congress shall meet regardless of England. The Schleswig-Holstein disturbance seemed to be approaching a climax, the Federal Diet threatening to occupy the disputed territory within three days if Denmark persists in non-compliance with the German demands.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Councilmen met yesterday and transacted considerable business, but none of it was of special interest. They adjourned to 4 o'clock P. M. to-day.

A Washington dispatch states that the War Department is not prepared either to sanction or to disapprove of the proposition for recruiting colored men at the South for Massachusetts and other States from which applications have been received. An amendment authorizing such enlistments from the rebel States will be introduced in the Senate by Senator WILSON, and if it is passed the quotas of several loyal States may possibly be filled without a resort to the draft.

Gold and Foreign Exchange were a fraction easier yesterday, on the news from England. The Stock Market closed steady. The demand for the Popular Loan was $1,392,300. Money 7 ₩ cent.

Speculators bought low grades of Flour rather freely yesterday, at uniform prices. Wheat and Corn were quiet and depressed. A fair inquiry prevailed for Oats, Tallow, Wool, Coffee and Tobacco. Cotton was inactive and drooping. Provisions were in lively request, prices generally tending upward. Another monthly auction sale of Scranton Coal took place during the day. Whisky was brisker and dearer. The changes in other branches of trade were not important.

Repudiation at the South—Its Effect on the War.

The near approach of repudiation in the Confederacy is hailed with delight with a great many people at the North, in the belief that it will paralyze the resistance of the rebels and so at once put an end to the war. A little consideration will show, however, that this is, to some extent, a mistaken idea. If the whole Confederate currency were burnt up to-day, it would doubtless be a cause of a good deal of chagrin to those who hold large quantities of it; but that class is most probably a very small one. The community at large would not be a whit worse off than before. The land, slaves, crops, machinery, or in other words, the property of the country, would still remain and would still retain its value. The Government notes have no intrinsic value; they rest on nothing and represent nothing, but the ability of the Government to redeem them; but that no importance has been attached to this by the people of the South for a long time, is proved by the depreciation of the paper. The things for which the paper was given in exchange were a real loss, but these have been consumed long ago, and the country has become reconciled to doing without them.

The loss of a circulating medium is no doubt a serious one, but it is a very much less serious one for the South than it would be for us, or England, or any busy manufacturing and commercial community. The trade of the South with foreign countries has, since the beginning of the war, been reduced to the narrowest limits short of total stoppage, and what there is of it is carried on entirely by barter. The blockade-runners bring their manufactured articles, and receive cotton in return; no money of any kind is needed for the transaction of this sort of business, and as to the internal trade of the South it was never very great, and can now hardly be said to exist. There are no manufactures except what are carried on for the Government; the farmers live on their plantations on their own produce, and buy very little in the towns, and the towns have very little to sell. In fact, there can be no doubt that neither country nor town would be much embarrassed by being compelled to make their exchanges by barter alone.

So that were the Government paper all gone, the worst effect upon the community at large would be a trifling increase of inconvenience in making their purchases. Upon the action of the Government, the immediate effect would be but small. The supplies for the army would still be obtained by impressment and Quartermaster's receipts would be given for them instead of notes. The army would not get its pay in money, but this would not affect it very much, since the money it receives now has very little purchasing power, and there is hardly anything in the market to purchase.

For all these reasons, we doubt if repudiation will exercise any immediate influence on the fortunes of the war, or prevent the armies now in the field from making a vigorous resistance and from being, perhaps, liberally recruited during the coming Spring. But the effect it will have in the total destruction of Government credit is sure to tell in the long run. It will effectually prevent the raising of any further loans in Europe, or the delivery of any supplies except on condition of immediate payment in cotton or tobacco. It will consequently force the Government to continue the impressment system, which is perhaps the most powerful agent now at work for the alienation of the mass of the people from the cause. The longer it continues the more vexatious and exhausting it becomes, and the less it produces. The farmers will every day take greater and greater pains to conceal their produce, or will be more reluctant to produce at all, for they will attach no value to the Government receipts. This will, it may be safely said, triple the material difficulties of the war, to say nothing of its moral effect upon the population. And this moral effect is perhaps the most important of all, for it is the moral force which lies behind the armies in the field, that makes a protracted contest possible. The total failure of the Government to meet the expenses even of two campaigns in a struggle for independence, either by loans, or taxation, or issues of paper, or by all three together, naturally and inevitably shakes the confidence of the Southern people in themselves and in one another. There is no surer test of devotion than readiness to pay bills. Large armies may be raised even amongst a lukewarm or excitable population, but the test of deep conviction and rooted faith is, after all, willingness to part with money. A people which fails to show this can never convince the world that they have the spirit which is necessary to bring a conflict as arduous as is this one to a successful issue.

The depreciation of the French assignats in the earlier part of the revolution is frequently pointed to as a proof that a long war may be carried on after the currency has become worthless. But it is forgotten that the example of France only shows that a foreign war can be thus carried on. After the retreat of the Austrians and Prussians in the campaign against DUMOURIEZ, the Republic became the aggressor, and hostilities were at once transferred to the enemy's soil; and from that time down to the battle of Waterloo, the French made war support war, and levied contributions enough all over Europe not only to pay the expenses of their armies, but to leave a very large sum in the treasury at NAPOLEON'S abdication in 1814.

SMALL QUIBBLES—CONGRESSIONAL ACTION REQUIRED.—We hope that Congress, in considering the Military Bill, and endeavoring to perfect its details, will not overlook one point about which there has been some discussion and some controversy before the Courts. It will be recollected that both here and in other States, there were disturbances of greater or less magnitude, arising from resistance offered by Copperheads to the enrolling officers. In some quarters it went even so far as to involve the murder of the officers, but here, we believe, there was nothing worse than assault and battery. The same principle was involved, however, and the Government felt it necessary to bring the offenders under the arm of the law.

On examination, it was found that the only provision of the enrolling law under which they could be punished was one which made liable to punishment any person who should "obstruct any officer in making such draft, or in the performance of any service in relation thereto," but it was thought that this was broad enough, and that the enrollment must be held to be a "service in relation to" the draft.

A person was accordingly arrested for resisting the enrolling officers in this City, and was brought up for examination before United States Commissioner OSBORNE. But the Commissioner held that the enrollment was not included in the terms of the statute, and discharged the man, for which, as we recollect, he received some sharp animadversion at the hands of one of our neighbors.

The matter afterward came up before one of the United States District Judges in Pennsylvania, who, after consultation with Judge GRIER, of the Supreme Court, came to the same conclusion as to the meaning of the statute. And now we see that Judge SHIPMAN, in charging the Grand Jury in the United States Circuit Court here, on Monday last, adopted the same views, and told the jury that the hindering, delaying or obstructing an enrolling officer had not been made punishable by Congress, and, of course, they need pay no attention to cases of that kind.

It is clear, therefore, that Congress ought at once to take hold of this matter. We hear of combinations to resist enrollment in various parts of the country, and Congress ought not, for a day longer than is necessary, to leave any one in doubt whether such offences are punishable by law.

RAILROAD FROM NEW-YORK TO WASHINGTON.—We notice in the proceedings of Congress an application for a railroad from Washington to New-York. We hope that as this matter is again before Congress it will receive the consideration its great importance demands. When the public come to understand how the interest of the whole country is made subservient to a few railroad corporations they will demand that the National Legislature shall exert its power conferred by the Constitution to protect the public against the gross impositions to which they are subjected by State legislation upon subjects with which, by the Constitution, they have no right to interfere.

The whole country will be surprised to hear the pretensions lately put forward by the New-Jersey monopolists. They have lately commenced judicial proceedings against a railroad company, demanding that their rails shall be taken up, and that they shall account for damages for transporting soldiers from New-York to Philadelphia without the consent of the monopolists. It seems that at the height of the great pressure upon all the means of transportation in the country to convey troops to Washington, when the Capital was threatened, the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroad Company carried a few thousand soldiers from New-York to Washington, by order of the Government. For doing this the monopolists of New-Jersey have called them to account, and, in their demand, they insist that all commercial intercourse between Philadelphia and New-York must de done by their railroad and their canal, and that there can be no travel, or transporting, by order of the General Government, or otherwise, across New-Jersey, whatever emergency may arise, except by consent of the monopolists.

These pretensions are monstrous. They must never be recognized. The clause of the Constitution of the United States which declares that Congress alone shall regulate the commercial intercourse between the States, must put an end to any pretence, that under any State law, or by any State authority, these monopolists have the control of all travel and trade between the North and South—the East and West.

It is in vain to seek redress from the Legislature of New-Jersey. The great monopoly controls the State. It makes judges, and senators, and legislators. It showed its head for the first time at Washington last Winter, and it will be there again, and is there now to resist any measure of relief.

If the constitutional question as to their rights can only be brought before the Supreme Court of the United States for its decision there is nothing to fear as to the result. But they will never suffer that tribunal to pass upon their rights. They will buy off all controversy, and the public outside of New-Jersey will continue to suffer.

The whole nation is deeply interested in this question, for it is a national one, but none are so deeply interested as the merchants and manufacturers of New-York, Philadelphia and New-England. Let something be done to free the commercial intercourse between our cities from this incubus. The remedy is a national railroad. The wants of the General Government and the commercial interests of the nation imperatively demand it.

INTERCEPTED REBEL CORRESPONDENCE.—The intercepted rebel correspondence which we published yesterday has considerable interest and importance, from the evidence it affords that our blockade of the Southern coast is by no means so ineffective as has been sometimes represented. Capt. MAFFIT, who commanded one of the fastest and most successful of the rebel privateers, writes from London in October, giving very discouraging accounts of the blockade-running business. "Nothing," he says, "has entered Wilmington for more than a month," while we were here making ourselves very unhappy over the reports that vessels were constantly carrying enormous cargoes into that port, and that it did not seem to be blockaded at all. Capt. MAFFIT adds that six of the last boats that tried to enter were caught, and that it was not of the slightest use to try the adventure with any steamer that could not run seventeen miles an hour. As late as in December, one WM. P. CAMPBELL, who seems to be a rebel agent in Bermuda, writes that only two vessels had arrived from Wilmington within a month.

Some French agent of the rebellion, trying to turn an honest penny for himself in the way of trade, gives Col. LAMAR, who seems to have had general charge of this department of rebel operations, very positive assurances that the French Emperor is willing to give the trade to Matamoras the "full protection of the French flag if it can only be kept secret." This is absurd enough not to have commanded any special credence even with the rebels themselves.

PREMATURE PUBLICATIONS.—In common with other New-York journals, we received from the Government Superintendent of Telegraphs a request not to publish the rebel correspondence seized on the prize steamer Ceres, as it was deemed important for the public interest that it should not be disclosed. We acquiesced in the propriety of this request, and should have complied with it, if the question of making the correspondence public had depended upon us. But we found it given at length in the Washington Chronicle, from which we transferred it to our own columns. All the public injury that can be done from its publication is done just as effectually by its appearance in one paper as in a dozen: and we cannot suppose that the Government has any wish to deprive our readers of information which it is quite willing to give to readers of others.

ENGLAND AND THE WAR.—A paragraph from a private letter of Rev. NEWMAN HALL, D.D., of London—one of the earliest and bravest defenders of the Union cause in Great Britain—has enough of general interest to warrant its publication. Few men are more competent to speak of the ruling sentiment in England than Dr. HALL. He is a man of the people, and a leader in every good undertaking. R. S. C.

"I heartily thank you," he writes Nov. 27, "for your encouraging letter, which came to me when there were not so many here of my opinion as there now are. Be sure that the heart of England has always been right! Whatever some of our editors may say, let this be a test: there have been hundreds, if not thousands of public meetings enthusiastic for Union and Emancipation. Not one has been convened for sympathy with the South! In your letter you expected that by Spring the rebellion would be merely a history of the past. The devil fights hard! It is now or never—a death-struggle! Perhaps the continuance of the strife was needed to unite your nation more thoroughly on an Emancipation policy. God grant that Slavery may soon cease, and with it the war. Some people talk here of the wickedness of the war! I hate war, except when waged to prevent what is worse. But when did this country ever wage, since CROMWELL'S day, a war for so glorious an object?"

EXPLANATORY.—A correspondent of an evening paper speaks of the recent mutiny among the negro troops at Fort St. Philip, below New-Orleans, as having been caused by the brutality of Lieut.-Col. BENEDICT. Some may, from similarity of names, and the slight difference in rank, suppose that Col. LEWIS BENEDICT, of this State, is the officer referred to. No one who knows him would be likely to fall into such an error; and this explanation is made for the benefit of those who know nothing of him but the name. The fact is, Col. BENEDICT is at New-Iberia, in West Louisiana, commanding the First brigade, Third division, Nineteenth army corps, under Gen. FRANKLIN, while the affair referred to took place below New-Orleans.

PROBABLY A MISTAKE.—A paragraph in the Boston Traveller says that letters have been received in that City "from one of the officers of Gen. ULLMAN'S brigade, captured near Port Hudson, announcing that he is imprisoned in Richmond." This, so far as we can learn, is the only authority for the statement telegraphed yesterday that Gen. ULLMAN himself was the prisoner. We presume that it was not the writer's intention to convey any such idea. A dispatch from Boston, published this morning, corrects the error.

HARDWARE REPORTER.—Mr. JOHN WILLIAMS has undertaken the publication, at No. 60 Beekman-street, of a journal under the above title, which is designed to perform an important work in spreading before the laboring classes of England accurate information regarding the condition of affairs in this country. If it continues to crowd into its columns as much information as is contained in the first number it will do a great service among those to whom it addresses itself.

FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

HEAVY FRAUDS IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

A feeling of great uneasiness was created here to-day by the arrest of CHARLES H. CORNWALL, Chief of the Redemption Bureau in the Treasury, on the charge of having embezzled Treasury notes to the amount of—as rumor makes it range—from $15,000 to $65,000. The method of his villainy was this: Through his hands passes all the mutilated Treasury notes sent here for redemption. Preliminary to their redemption, they are canceled by being cut into three parts—two of them being nearly exact quarters of the notes divided upon the centre of the name of CHITTENDEN, the Register. These are sent to different bureaux as vouchers of the work done in the redemption office. They are subsequently returned to the office for destruction by fire. It is said that CORNWALL secreted quantities of these cut portions of the notes before they were put into the ovens, and used them as thus stolen from time to time as vouchers for the bills thereafter received, and which he should have canceled, but which he pocketed. This fraud has renewed the comment for some time silenced, which the incongruity between large expenditures and moderate salaries had excited in other bureaux in the Treasury building.

THE APPOINTMENT OF NEW GENERALS.

The President has sent in to the Senate the names of a lot of Major-Generals made during the recess, and with them that of Gen. SCHOFIELD. He is understood to earnestly commend the latter to Senators for the Middle Department, in place of Gen. SCHENCK. There is a growing feeling in the Senate that no more Major-Generals or Brigadier-Generals should be appointed who are not actually required for the needs of the army and the interests of the country.

PROPOSED ADDITION TO THE NAVY.

The Navy Department is going to build four casemated steamships, to carry four 20-inch guns, to be of wrought iron, four hundred and fifty feet long, fifty-eight feet beam, two thousand feet grate surface, four cylinders, ninety inches stroke, four feet two inches propellers; draft, nineteen feet; expected speed, sixteen knots. Mr. LENTHALL has got up the plans, and is consulting with all the iron shipbuilding establishments in the country to make these ships superior to any that float. They will cost five millions each.

THE DEATH OF GEN. CORCORAN.

It was while riding with his Staff in the neighborhood of Sangerster's Station that Gen. CORCORAN'S horse stumbled, throwing him violently head foremost to the ground, fracturing his skull and causing death in a few hours. As he was an excellent horseman, it is supposed that his fall was occastoned by apoplexy or some kindred cause. His body was embalmed to-day to be sent to New-York.

GEN. GRANT'S PROMOTION.

There is a strong opposition among Senators to the proposition to make GRANT a Lieutenant-General. His promotion would necessarily bring him here in HALLECK'S place, and his absence from the field it is felt would be a public calamity.

A REBEL LETTER.

Among the recently captured rebel letters near Chattanooga is one from a private, dated Wassaca, Ga., Nov. 29, in which he says:

"The fight was so badly conducted that our men are very much disheartened and there is much complaint. It is enough to make the devil mad to think how our army acted in the fight. The right wing of the army under Gen. BRECKINRIDGE acted well, but the centre under HARDEE was badly managed."

POSITION OF LEE'S ARMY.

The main portion of LEE'S army is preparing to go into Winter quarters near Louisa Court-House, on the line of the Virginia and Central Railroad. A strong picket force is being maintained by the rebels along the Rapidan front, principally cavalry.

FERNANDO WOOD'S VOTE.

FERNANDO WOOD voted to-day with the Union men on several of the amendments to the Conscription bill.

GOING HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Speaker COLFAX left this afternoon for his home in Indiana, where he will spend the holiday recess. Very few Senators or Members will remain here during the holidays.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

GEN. M'CLELLAN'S REPORT.

Gen. MCCLELLAN'S report was transmitted to the House to-day. It consists of 765 foolscap pages, and is divided into four parts. He concludes as follows:

"I shall not, nor can I living forget that when I was ordered to the command of the troops for the defence of the Capital, the soldiers with whom I had shared so much of the anxiety, and pains, and suffering of the war, had not lost their confidence in me as their commander. They sprang to my call with all their ancient vigor, discipline and courage. I led them into Maryland fifteen days after they had fallen back defeated before Washington. They vanquished the enemy on the rugged heights of South Mountain, pursued him to the hard-fought field of Antietam, and drove him broken and disappointed across the Potomac, into Virginia. The army had need of rest after the terrible experiences of battles and marches with scarcely an interval of repose, which they had gone through from the time of leaving for the Peninsula, the return to Washington, the defeat in Virginia, the victory at South Mountain, and again at Antietam.

It was not surprising that they were in a large degree destitute of the absolute necessities to effective duty. Their shoes were worn out, blankets were lost, their clothing was in rags. In short, the army was unfit for active service, and an interval for rest and equipment was necessary. When the slowly forwarded supplies came to us, I led the army across the river, renovated, refreshed, and in good order and discipline, and followed the retreating foe to a position where I was confident of a decisive victory, when, in the midst of the movement, and while my advanced guard was actually in contact with the enemy, I was removed from the command. I am devoutly grateful to God that my last campaign with this brave army was crowned with a victory which saved the nation from the greatest peril it had then undergone. I have not accomplished my purpose if by this report the Army of the Potomac is not placed high on the roll of the historic armies of the world. Its deeds ennoble the nation to which it belongs. Always ready for battle, always firm, steadfast and trustworthy, I never called on it in vain, nor will the nation ever have cause to attribute its want of success under myself or under other commanders to any failure of patriotism or bravery in that noble body of American soldiers. No man can justly charge upon any portion of that army, from the Commanding-General to the private, any lack of devotion to the service of the United States Government, and to the cause of the Constitution and the Union. They have proved their fealty in much sorrow, suffering, danger and through the very shadow of death. Their comrads dead on all the fields where we fought have scarcely more claim to the honor of a nation's reverence than the survivors to the justice of a nation's gratitude.

The report covers the period from the 25th of July, 1861, to Nov. 7, 1862.

ABSTRACTION OF FUNDS FROM THE TREASURY.

A case of abstraction of funds was discovered to-day in the Treasury Department, which has occasioned much surprise. Exaggerated rumors are prevalent; but the facts are, that CORNWALL, a clerk in the Treasurer's office, occupying a position of great responsibility and confidence, instead of burning in the presence of witnesses the canceled demand notes, which are previously cut in two, adroitly managed to slip some of the packages from time to time into his pocket. These he subsequently exchanged for whole notes, opportunities to do so being afforded by the nature of his proper duties; but to-day his dishonesty was discovered, and he was arrested. It was ascertained that the entire amount stolen was about $100,000, a part of which he had invested in five-twenty bonds. All of this sum, it is believed, has been recovered by the Government. Nothing has been discovered to show that he had confederates.

DEATH OF A VENERABLE LADY.

Mrs. SEATON, wife of Mr. SEATON, of the Intelligencer, died this evening, aged 74.

SMITHSONIAN REGENCY.

The Speaker of the House has reappointed Representative COX one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, and Representatives DAVIS of Maryland, and PATTERSON of New-Hampshire, also Regents, in places of Messrs. COLFAX and MCPHERSON.

THE BATTLES OF CORINTH AND HATCHIE.

The official reports of the battles of Corinth and Hatchie, fought early in October, were, to-day, published. Gen. THOMAS says:

"The pursuit of WHEELER, who made a raid into Tennessee, was unsurpassed for its energy and the bravery and endurance of the officers and men engaged in it, and prevented the execution of an extensive plan of destruction to our communications, and plunder, rapine and murder throughout Middle Tennessee and Northern Alabama, in which RODDY and LEE were to coöperate with WHEELER. It cost the enemy 6 pieces of artillery, and about 2,000 men, including the killed, captured and those who deserted."

THE PROPOSED AMBULANCE BILL.

Senator WILSON'S Ambulance Bill, which has been carefully prepared from practical suggestions of medical and other officers of the army, provides:

1. The supervision of all ambulances, medicine wagons, &c., is vested in the Medical Director or chief medical officer of each army corps.

2. One Captain, one First Lieutenant for each division; one Second Lieutenant for each brigade; one Sergeant for each regiment; three privates for each ambulance, and one private for each medicine wagon shall be detached by each corps Commander, the officers and non-commissioned officers of such corps to be mounted.

3. Three two-horse ambulances are granted to each regiment of infantry, two to each regiment of cavalry, one to each battery of artillery, two to the headquarters of each army corps, and two army wagons to each division.

4. The fourth section prescribes the duties of the Captain of the corps, and directing the establishment of a drill in service of removing sick and wounded, requiring the exercise of gentleness and care under strict and particular orders of the Medical Director and the Secretary of War.

Sections five and six prescribes the duties of other officers of the corps.

7. The Surgeon-in-Chief of the division is required to detail two medical officers and two hospital stewards to accompany the ambulances when on the march.

8. The use of ambulances is prohibited for any purpose except the conveyance of the sick and wounded, and for medical supplies only in urgent cases.

9. No persons other than those connected with the ambulance corps are allowed to remove the sick and wounded.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The superior brightness, vivacity and charm of Italian opera attracted an appropriately brilliant gathering last evening, and inaugurated Mr. MAretzek's interlineary season with great eclat. VERDI'S "Ballo in Maschera" was played with rare spirit. We have rarely heard it given to greater advantage. Signor MAZZOLENI was in fine voice, and sung with that judicious balance of power and intelligent moderation which characterizes this fine artist's best efforts. The applause after the barcarolle in the second act rendered it absolutely necessary to repeat the piece. Mme. MEDORI was received with the approbation which so great an artiste always deserves. She was in admirable voice. The dramatic opportunities of the rôle were seized, we need scarcely add, with the best of effect. Signor BELLINI, who sometimes disappoints his best admirers, satisfied every one on this occasion. Briefly, the performance was a great success. The singers, without an exception, were in first-rate trim. Signor NUNO presided in the orchestra with marked ability.

On Friday, Mr. MAretzek will play once more GOUNOD'S opera of "Faust," the great success of the past season. The cast is essentially the same as last season, with one important improvement. We refer to the rôle of Valentin, which will be played by Signor BELLINI.

Metropolitan Fair for the Benefit of the Sanitary Commission.

For once our great Metropolis has allowed the smaller cities to take the initiative, and Chicago and Boston are ahead of us in the Fair line. Ever as ready, however, to follow good example as to set it, our citizens are preparing to hold a Metropolitan Fair for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission, upon a scale hitherto unattempted, and which this City and State alone are capable of accomplishing. Large bodies move slowly, but the forces and elements which have been enlisted in the carrying out of the Metropolitan Fair are such as not only to insure a brilliant success, so far as the quantity and quality of the contributions are concerned, and the consequent pecuniary results, but also will present a spectacle hitherto unequaled in America.

Every article of necessity or luxury will there be offered for sale, nothing will be out of place, no matter how insignificent or humble—no matter how extravagant or gorgeous; the labors of the husbandman and of the mechanic, of workers in stone, iron and brass, the results of the delicate manipulations of the goldsmith, the creations of the pencil of the artist, of the genius of the sculptor, the ingenuity of the inventor and the skill of the strong arm of the son of Vulcan, all will find equal welcome and equal honor, as representing the generosity and watchful care of their producers toward those brave men who have gone forth to battle for the cause of freedom and right.

There is no class of industry too humble to add its item in this great public undertaking, no mind so endowed but that it may win its most precious laurel by devoting its talents to the creation of some offering for this altar of brotherly love and true Christian philanthropy.

The people of the City and State of New-York have pledged themselves to open a great mart for the sale of everything, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to a charity, as truly patriotic, humane, and praiseworthy as ever presented itself, and when once New-York is pledged, naught but success, and grand success can result.

The arduous duties naturally attendant upon so vast an undertaking have been assumed by a Committee of ladies, aided by an advisory committee of gentlemen. These ladies have divided their committee into sub-committees, to devote to each one some particular branch of commerce, trade or art, and from the earnest and systematic manner in which business has been commenced, the only question in our minds is, as to when the contributions which will flow in can be advantageously collected and exposed for sale. No doubt, however, some central and suitable site will be selected, and a building in proportion to the requirements of the Metropolitan Fair provided.

We understand the proceeds from the Chicago Fair were about $60,000 and from that held in Boston near $100,000. To these our sisters we say, well done. It is not always prudent to say what we will do, but we venture to predict that at least $200,000 will be added to the funds of the Sanitary Commission out of the proceeds of the New-York Fair.

Easter Monday, March 28, has, we understand, been fixed upon as the opening day, and we anticipate an influx of people to the City during the Fair, such as never before has taken place, not even during the Crystal Palace exhibition—for that great show appealed only to the curious and sight-seeing world, whilst this Fair in addition to what is to be seen, will offer inducements in what is to be had, and at such prices as will make it the interest of all to supply their wants or their fancies, out of its ample and well-stocked storehouses and bazaars.

A HOAX EXPOSED.

No Truth in the Alleged Charleston Telegram.

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The regular Fortress Monroe letter to the Associated Press of Monday and Tuesday's date, contains no reference to the receipt of Richmond papers of the 19th, or the telegram purporting to come from Charleston, "that the Ironsides had got entangled in the obstructions, and that two monitors were damaged!" There is, therefore, no doubt that the dispatch in question was a hoax, and as the agent at Fortress Monroe always mails a copy of his dispatches here, it is certain that the attachment of his name to the telegram was a forgery.

The Report About Gen. Ullman Untrue.

BOSTON, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The dispatch of yesterday conveying intelligence of the capture of Gen. ULLMAN and a portion of his brigade, near Port Hudson, was an error. The letter on which the report was based was rather blind, but really conveyed the statement that an officer of his brigade, who was captured and reported murdered, was a prisoner at Richmond. At the latest dates Gen. ULLMAN was performing his duty with the Union army.

Conservative Union National Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The Conservative Union National Committee met this afternoon at the Continental for the purpose of consultation. It is probable a public meeting will be held at the Council Chambers, Independence Hall, to-morrow morning. The proceedings of the Convention at Cincinnati are under discussion, and a conclusion will probably be arrived at to-night.

The Twenty-ninth Pennsylvania Regiment.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The gallant Twenty-ninth regiment, from Chattanooga, has arrived, on furlough, to recruit, numbers having reënlisted. The regiment was received by a large escort, and as they passed through the streets with tattered banners they were received with vociferous applause, waving of handkerchiefs, &c. They go to-morrow to the Soldiers' Home, to partake of a dinner provided by the citizens.

The Monitor Hoax.

FORT MONROE, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

To the Associated Press:

The flag-of-truce boat is just in. Dates from Richmond to the 22d are received. There is no truth in the Monitor story.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

TESTIMONIAL FROM ONE OF THE MOST RESPECTABLE CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 420 SIXTH-AV., NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

O. HOPKINS.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,

No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR,

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR POOR CHILDREN.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY,
CLINTON HALL, ASTOR-PLACE,
NEW-YORK, Dec. 15, 1863.

It seems the most natural thing, on the Annual Christmas Festival of good will, to remember the children of the poor.

As families gather together, recalling in affection those who are absent and those who shall be no more with them, and while they make the day bright to the little ones with many gifts, their feelings will naturally go out to those children who have no home and seldom a friend, and to whom the blessed Birthday is only another trial of cold, and hunger and poverty. Before their glowing fireside, they will think of shivering children, barefooted and thinly clad, and of young outcasts growing up in temptation and sin—and they will remember ONE who was the friend of little children, and above all of the poor, and perhaps many will seek to make the Christmas season a time of happiness for these poor creatures who have not many pleasures.

The Children's Aid Society is especially the guardian and helper of the children of the poor. In the course of the year, many thousands come under its influence or areaided by it.

They propose on Christmas Day (if the public will generously furnish the means) to spread a bountiful table for the Newsboys, at the Newsboys' Lodging-house, and for the girls at the Girls' Lodging-house—and during the week to provide meals, shoes, and clothing for as many of the 2,000 children under their charge in these Lodging-houses and the Industrial Schools, as the funds supplied them for this purpose will permit.

They propose, also, during the holiday season, to send a large party of destitute children to homes in the West.

The average expense for each child, including all the expense of visitors, agents, &c., is about $15 each.

Who will help provide for the destitute ones, or give a Christmas gift of a Home?

What child, especially, would like to make a Christmas present of a home to some poor boy or girl?

The Newsboys will have their dinner at 7 o'clock P. M., at the Newsboys' Lodging-house, No. 128 Fulton-st., highest MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS,
MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.
Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

BRADBURY'S NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTES!
After thorough and repeated tests by Gottschalk, Mason, Mills, Sanderson, Morgan, Heller, Timm, Patterson and many others of the most competent judges, are pronounced "superior in power, purity, richness and equality of tone and thoroughness of workmanship." See their letter in my last Circular.
Seven first premiums, including two gold medals, were received by Mr. Bradbury within four weeks, at the State fairs, and at the American Institute of 1863 "For the best piano-forte a gold medal!"
Warerooms No. 427 Broome-st., one block east of Broadway. WM. B. BRADBURY.

STEINWAY & SONS'
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.
The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Important Order on Re-Enlistments and Furloughs.

Veterans to Come Home for Thirty-five Days.

The Army to be Supplied With Oysters, Fish, Poultry and Milk.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Dec. 21, 1863.

The following order was promulgated to the army to-day:

SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 329.—First—With exception hereafter indicated, corps and other independent commanders are now authorized to grant individual furloughs for thirty-five days, which must cover the entire period of the soldier's absence from his company and regiment, to such men, of their respective commands, as may have up to this date reenlisted, or having since the issue of the circular from these Headquarters dated Dec. 17, 1863, signified their intention to do so, shall at once reenlist as veteran volunteers under the provisions of the General Orders Nos. 191, 305 and 376 from the War Department.

Second—When three-fourths of the men of a regiment or company reenlist, such portion of the regiment or company will be allowed to go home in a body and take with it its arms and equipments. In all other cases the arms and equipments of the men granted furloughs will be turned in before leaving camp to the division ordnance officer, by whom they will be transferred to the officer in charge of the ordnance depot, to be held subject to his call on the return of the men to duty.

Three-fourths of a veteran regiment will be understood to mean three-fourths of the men belonging to it, and who are within the limits of this army, and not to include those absent as prisoners of war, in the general hospital, &c.

When there are men in a veteran organization who do not come within the limits for reenlistment, (all men who have joined the army since July 1, 1863, excepted,) and are yet willing to reenlist, they will be permitted to go on furlough with the regiment in case it goes in a body, and those only will be left behind who are within the limits and yet refuse to reenlist, and the aforesaid men who have recently joined.

The men willing to reenlist will, of course, not be discharged and remustered till they come within the limits, that is, have less than one year to serve; but they will be required to affirm, in writing, their intention to reenlist, and such affirmation must be witnessed by two commissioned officers, and filed with the muster rolls of the company to which they belong.

Third—Furloughs will not be granted in cases where three-fourths of a regiment or a company have agreed to reenlist under the foregoing provisions until after corps commanders shall have sent to these headquarters for the orders of the Commanding General therein, a statement showing the strength present with the army of such regiment or company, and the number of men who have reenlisted or can reenlist under the orders and instructions of the War Department.

Fourth—When an organization may be broken up for the time being by the departure of the men going on furlough, corps commanders will transfer temporarily the officers and men who remain to other regiments and companies from the same State, or organize them into a battalion, as may be thought best.

Fifth—Every furlough granted under this order will have an indorsement showing that the holder, as a veteran volunteer, is entitled to transportation to and from his home, as provided for by paragraph 4 of General Orders No. 376, from the War Department. Corps Commanders will make requisitions upon the Chief Quartermaster for transportation for the men of their commands who may be granted furloughs, and the Chief Quartermaster will make the necessary arrangements with the proper officer of his Department at Washington, to have such men forwarded to their homes.

Sixth—The necessities of the service will not admit of the quantity of furloughs at present to a larger number of men than are embraced in this order, but the men not herein included who may be entitled to reenlist as veterans will be granted a similar furlough on their return to duty of the men now furloughed.

Seventh—Corps and other independent commanders will report at the earliest moment practicable, the number of men who have reenlisted, or may reenlist in their respective commands, and who may receive furloughs under the provisions of this order.

By command of Maj.-Gen. MEADE.
S. WILLIAMS, Ass't. Adj't.-General.

LUXURIES FOR THE CAMPS.

HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 23.

In accordance with the generally expressed wishes of officers, Provost-Marshal-Gen. PATRICK has, to-day, issued an advertisement permitting the resumption of the oyster trade with the Army of the Potomac. A recommendation to the Commanding General was returned to-day vesting Gen. PATRICK with authority to regulate said trade as he might think proper. The object of the advertisement is to secure to corps hospitals and depots a supply of oysters at reasonable prices, and to avoid the annoyance of the transportation of a multitude of agents, who have hitherto charged exorbitant prices for oysters, canned milk, fish, poultry, &c. Gen. PATRICK wishes universal publicity to be given to the advertisement appended.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, OFFICE OF THE PROVOST-MARSHAL-GENERAL, Dec. 23, 1863.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 12 o'clock M., on Saturday, the 2d day of January, 1864, for supplying the Army of the Potomac with oysters. The bids must be made by parties engaged in trade having control of their own oyster boats and vessels; the contract will be for the whole army, not for corps, hospitals, and depots. The bids will state the quantity that can be furnished daily, the price per can, gallon and bushel, delivered at corps depots, hospitals and general headquarters. One car daily will be set apart for the exclusive use of contractors, at a cost not exceeding $51 per trip. THE WAR IN ARKANSAS.

Standwaite, Adair and Quantrell Routed.

ST. LOUIS, Tuesday, Dec. 22.

The Democrat has a special dispatch from Fort Smith, dated to-day, which says:

"The rebel force which crossed the Arkansas River, going northward, was under STANDWAITE, ADAIR and QUANTRELL. Capt. SPELLMAN, with some Indiana troops, encountered them at Barren Fork, Cherokee County—fought them for four hours, and routed them, with a rebel loss of about 70. They fled in all directions. They will doubtless reorganize.

It is suspected that their design is to concentrate on the Kansas border.

All is quiet in front."

Fire at Gray's Ferry Bridge.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The western section of Gray's Ferry bridge was burned, but the eastern end, this side of the draw, was saved. By far the largest section of the bridge was saved.

LATER.

The portion of the bridge burned is but a single span, and the draw is not more than a tenth part of the whole structure. The draw was not burned, but cut away to prevent the flames extending to the east end. The damage will be repaired to allow the passage of trains inside of three days. Meantime, trains will start regularly, crossing over the new Pennsylvania Railroad bridge, half a mile above. The fire probably originated from the sparks of a passing locomotive.

Ecclesiastical Council at New-Haven.

NEW-HAVEN, Wednesday, Dec. 23.

At an Ecclesiastical Council convened in this city, responsive to a majority call of the Brotherhood of the South Congregational Church of New-Haven, it was determined to-day, by a unanimous vote, to refuse to recognize the Society of the Church as of any regular Congregational organization, so long as said Society continue to retain the services of Rev. J. HALSTED CARROLL, on account of his not exhibiting adequate proof of his being in regular standing as a clergyman of said denomination, and because of his alleged disloyalty. The complainants were further requested to withdraw from connection with the said Church.

Skating on Central Park Lakes and Fifth-avenue and Other Ponds.

Yesterday "The Ball is Up," was on the lips, in the mouths, in the looks and smiles of old and young of both sexes, and thousands pressed up town to the Central Park lakes and Fifth-avenue Park, to avail themselves of the welcome opportunity for skating. The ice was in fine condition on the Central Park lakes, and the large attendance can be judged by the fact that nearly 4,000 pairs of skates were loaned by the parties licensed for that purpose by the Commissioners, and these in addition to the immense numbers who own ice-skimmers themselves.

No other accident or annoyance occurred than the occasional and usual transposition of some of the tyros in skating from a vertical to a horizontal position; and the Park Police had none but the pleasing occupation of assisting pretty young ladies who had subsided into an interesting heap to regain their perpendiculars, and to send them again blushing on their icy way.

It is a very noticeable, and at the same time a very pleasing fact that, this season, a large proportion of the lady skaters are—either singly or in company with others of their sex—entirely unattended by gentlemen, and dash past the latter with perfect impunity and confidence. Of course, there were many excellent skaters on the lakes yesterday, but the most noticeable one was young HAINES, the skating champion.

The most noticeable of the fair sex was a sweet little girl of about 12 years, who was as expert as she was graceful, and created quite a furore wherever she appeared. She was accompanied by another pretty young lady and young gentleman, hardly less expert and graceful. The arrangement of the Commissioners in the Skate and Refreshment Department are excellent. Skates are furnished at reasonable rates, and refreshments of all kinds and of the best quality at moderate charges. Another department has been established, in which property or clothing, for a slight charge, is taken care of. Thousands were on the lakes last night, enjoying "skating by moonlight."

The Bull Fight.

The result of the King and Heenan fight was received yesterday, creating great excitement, and was at first very generally discredited by the partisans of HEENAN. Toward night, however, the doubts yielded, and an acknowledgement of defeat was made, save by a few enthusiasts. Stakes, however, were not delivered up, but will, doubtless, with the confirmation, be handed over to-day. That HEENAN should have been vanquished so easily and so speedily—that he should have adpoted tactics so different from his old ones—that he so often threw KING and fell on him, doing no injury—that he was so dreadfully punished and KING almost unscathed, are assertions that Heenan men found it difficult to believe. They pointed to the fact that HEENAN fought SAYERS two hours and six minutes—but forgot that for over an hour of that time SAYERS had one of his arms disabled.

The result proves that HEENAN never was and never can be a match for an enduring man. He has physical strength, science, and a courage sufficient for a quick sharp struggle; of endurance he has none. He had MORRISSEY at his mercy on the third round of their contest, and did not finish it,—the result being that he was defeated afterward. He never yet has been a winner, and is no match for any man anywhere near his proportions and who for any length of time can stand punishment.

The betting on him has been enormous. On no occasion has more money been wagered than on the result of this ball fight. MORRISSEY has won $34,000, HARRY HILLS $7,000, and other less noted sporting men proportionally, while thousands of individuals with whom betting is the exception, have gone into it wildly. The odds of two to one have all been given to KING's backers.

It is a good result, and has removed one notorious pugilist from the list this side of the water. A more degrading, brutalizing species of "sport" is not, and the earnest attempt of bruisers and vagabonds generally to nationalize and popularize it will, it is to be hoped, receive a quietus in the thorough thrashing HEENAN has received. The attempts to make this bull fight "international" was repudiated by the English papers, and, with few exceptions, rejected by ours. There was nothing "international" about it; HEENAN went to England, staid long enough to become familiarized, had his vanity excited, sought a fight, got one as quick as he sought it, and "caught a Tartar"—two or three Tartars.

Naval Movements.

A WAR FLEET TO BE STATIONED OFF SANDY HOOK AND IN THE NARROWS.

In conformity with the resolutions of the Government, indicated in the order received by Marshal MURRAY, which were published in yesterday's papers, Admiral PAULDING has received orders from the Navy Department to dispatch, as soon as convenient, to the Narrows and Sandy Hook, a fleet of vessels-of-war adapted for the purpose of overhauling and searching mercantile ships and steamers leaving the port. No sooner had the orders been received by the Admiral than he immediately sent for the commanding officers of the United States steamers Neptune, Kensington and Peterhoff, and gave them the necessary instructions. The Vicksburgh had gone down to the Narrows on Sunday evening, in company with the Sebago—the latter gunboat ordered to sea, and the former remaining off the Narrows, where she is at present. The Vicksburgh yesterday overhauled the Government transport Arago and sent her back to the City for a pass, without which she was attempting to leave harbor. The Captain of the Arago thought it was not necessary to be provided with such a document, as he was in the Government service, but the Captain of the Vicksburgh undeceived him on this point. The following is a brief description of the vessels to take the position as stated: The Vicksburgh is a screw propeller, recently purchased from the Neptune Steamship Company with four others. She is a good-sized ship, having a capacity of 926 tons. Her dimensions are: Length, 185 feet; width, 33¾ feet, and depth of hold 18 feet. Her engines will enable her to steam very fast, their cylinders being 36 inches in diameter. The vessel was built recently at Mystic, Conn. She is commanded by Commander D. S. BROWNE.

The Passport System.

A CALIFORNIA STEAMER SEARCHED.

Yesterday, at noon, the steamship Illinois sailed for Aspinwall, with 560 passengers. According to the instructions of Marshal MURRAY, Deputies BOZET, JARVIS and RASBECK went on board, and, as the ship proceeded down the bay, they made a thorough search for firearms. Among the passengers were found 165 revolvers, 16 rifles and 7 fowling-pieces, which were taken, receipted for, labeled and placed in the custody of Purser PATTERSON, to be delivered to the claimants on reaching their destination. No difficulty was experienced by the officers, save from the loud-mouthed Secessionists, who were locked up in their rooms until the search was over. The whole affair occupied over three hours, and the officers left the vessel at Sandy Hook in a tug sent down by the owners of the ship for that use.

Death of Gen. Corcoran.

A meeting of the officers of the Irish Legion was held at the Metropolitan Hotel last evening, to make arrangements to participate in the funeral honors to Brig.-Gen. CORCORAN. Col. MURPHY, of the Sixty-ninth, (in the field,) presided, and a large number of the officers were present. It was resolved that all the officers and privates of the Irish Legion now in New-York attend the funeral.

A Committee of the Council went to Washington last evening to receive the remains, which are expected there by noon to-morrow. They will immediately return with them, and are expected here on Friday. The military, under Gen. SANFORD will receive and escort the remains to the Governor's Room, City Hall, where they are to lie in State until Sunday, when the funeral will take place. The following telegrams were received yesterday:

FAIRFAX COURT-HOUSE, Dec. 22, 1863.

To Hon. Judge Daly:

Gen. CORCORAN died at 8 o'clock and thirty P. M. this day. E. CONNELLY.

SECOND DISPATCH.

FAIRFAX COURT-HOUSE, Dec., 23, 1863.

J. B. Kirker, No. 599 Broadway:

CHRISTMAS FAIRS AND FESTIVITIES.—Last evening a very elegant Christmas Tree was provided and given to the Sunday School children of St. Bartholomew's Church, corner of Great Jones-street and Lafayette-place. The Church was crowded with joyous little ones, and the festivities were carried on with great spirit. A solo, superbly sung by Miss BRAINERD, and excellent organ music by Dr. CLARK W. BRYANT, added to the other attractions. The Congregational Church at Harlem, (Rev. Mr. BOWNE's,) is holding a very successful fair, which will close this evening. The proceeds are to be employed toward furnishing the Church.

RETURN OF THE FRIGATE NIAGARA.—The frigate Niagara, which left the Navy-yard a few days since in search of the Chesapeake, returned yesterday. During the cruise the vessel touched at several ports in Nova Scotia. The officers of the Niagara, ascertaining that the pirate crew had been captured and taken into Halifax, sailed for that harbor, which was reached on the 20th inst., and departed from there for New-York the same day, making the run to this City in 70 hours.

WHERE ALL THE PEOPLE GO TO.—We believe the question has been settled somewhere as to what becomes of the pins, but we have never seen a satisfactory solution of the question where all the people we meet go to. Such crowds on Broadway, such crowds in the cross streets, such crowds in the avenues, such crowds in the cars, such crowds in the stages, such quantities of eager faces peering into every shop-window, and finally, such diversity of dress and digging into one's ribs as we desperately tries a venture in the inside of a passing Broadway stage corner of Fulton-street has been as much as one's life would be worth at any time within the past two weeks. What the attraction was, a stranger would find it difficult to guess. Perhaps he would think it was Barnum's Museum; but a citizen could tell that it was country cousins who were looking for the metropolitan dry-goods lower down. What did the throngs of eager, well-dressed men want? They all had their gaze fixed in one direction. Something was in their eyes Was it speculation? No; for they did not go down to Wall-street; they stopped at the store of the celebrated KNOX. What did they want with him? Why, Furs, to be sure. Of course, why didn't we think of it sooner? Furs for Christmas, presents for wives, sisters and daughters. KNOX is remarkable for the taste with which he manufactures these articles. His Furs are always warranted, his styles are the latest, and the finishing executed in the neat and artistic style which renders such a gift doubly acceptable. Thus KNOX solves at least a part of the problem as to where the people go to, and will again and again, during the present and coming week; for there are hundreds of wives and daughters yet to be made happy by the purchase, for a Christmas or New-Year's gift, of a set of KNOX's beautiful Furs.

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius, Nov. 4.—The ship Julia Lawrance, before reported, has been surveyed, and the estimate of repairs having been laid before the Captain, he decided to condemn her; she was accordingly sold on the 15th ult., for $12,000. Her cargo will be taken forward to Falmouth by the ship Wild Hunter.
